TROUBLE IN COAL MINES

OPERATORS' AND MINERS' REPRE-SENTATIVES IN CONFERENCE.

Strikes in Both the Virginias in Prospect-Local Painters May Go to Work To-Day.

The United Mine Workers have several questions confronting them that they will endeavor to settle within a few days. Yesterday afternoon T. W. Davis, commission- John A. Green, a Negro, Living on er of the Michigan Coal Operators' Association, and W. F. Williams, president of the miners' State organization, were in conference with President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson in an endeavor to bring both sides together and settle the strike in that State. All of the employes in and about the mines are out and the mines are tied up. The operators and miners conferred until they disagreed, and the representatives of the two organizations were called here by President Mitchell for a conference. Vice President Lewis, who has been in Michigan assisting the miners, was also called here to attend the conference. No agreement was reached yesterday and the matter will again be taken up to-day. A conference to devise means of settling the strike in the Clearfield district of Pennsylvania, where 10,000 miners are on strike, was scheduled for last night at the Denison Hotel, but the representatives from Pennsylvania did not arrive in time. The request for this conference comes from both sides. John Reid, representing the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron Company and the Jefferson and Clearfield Coal Company, the interests affected by the strike, will represent the operators at the conference, and Barney Rice, member of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers, the miners. A small strike at Linton, Ind., where the drivers were out, was settled yesterday by telephone. The drivers were out because they had been required to take their mules from the stable to the mines. Before the mules were taken to the mines for them. tional Board Member W. H.
